Mickey Baskett : Wire Jewelry in an Afternoon before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Wire Jewelry in an Afternoon:

It's fashionable and fun to wear crafted jewelry, especially if you make it with your hands. Try your hands at easy and fun projects you can finish in a few hours. Bend, twist, and wrap your way to distinctive jewelry just your style. Choose from 66 projects that include: wrapped-wire necklaces and earrings; spiral fashion pin; ID chain; headband; and pendant. From woven beads and pearls try a fashion pin; finger butterfly; and hair comb; or make personalities with beads: Santa, bride, groom, teen girl and boy, baby girl, baby boy. You can also make wire dragonflies, butterflies, spiders, and bees, as well as whimsical projects such as a snow crystal stickpin, hairsticks with dangles, and wrist ladder bracelet.

From BooklistSpirals, coils, wraps, and wire mesh add up to a kind of jewelry that, as Baskett claims, can go from pieces of scrap to ear, neck, or hair in a couple of hours. It is inconvenient that the directions for 66 varieties of adornment featured here do not include length of time to complete, but all other details are present, including diagrams, designer credit, color photographs, materials lists, and step-by-step instructions. Although none of the items will win anyone a best-dressed award, they are whimsical enough for having great fun and feature such familiar characters as Santa and a bride and groom, and such creatures as a dragonfly and a spider.
